Abraham: When you focus on living intentionally, living on purpose, you are committed to having any experience that comes your way, good or bad. You are committed to being willing to experience and learn and grow from it. You that gather in these weekly meeting and others who are committed to fight the good fight of faith are co-creators in destiny. To be a co-creator you must allow yourselves to be spirit led.

Without divine guidance we would surely live an existence of chaos and disorder. In the willingness to be spirit led we find comfort and confidence to move about in the world, to live intentionally, to be a participator instead of a spectator. To live on purpose you commit to Father that you can do the Kingdom work for the soul purpose of glorifying Him.
