Welcome to our site!

This page will give you a quick overview of what this site is about and how to use it.

? Introducing the TBG Commission

The Truth Beauty and Goodness Commission is neither a business or a church, it is non incorporated (not 501(c)(3)), and does not accept financial contributions. It is and shall remain a private volunteer educational initiative.

tbgcommission.org is a private educational web site that is entirely owned, built and funded by its owners, which means you won't encounter annoying advertisements, merchandising, or begging for money.

To learn more about the Truth Beauty and Goodness Commission go to our Introduction section where we tell you about our core values, our guiding principles, and how to contact us.

? Our objectives

This site has two main objectives:

1. To begin building a bonafide and durable, freely available, repository of wisdom which we call the Global Library of Wisdom or GLoW.
 2. To help bring about a paradigm shift regarding the famous historical figure commonly referred to as Jesus of Nazareth, a Son of God and a son of man. We aim to move the focus away from the personality cults about Jesus, and toward what he actually taught, how to live life to the fullest and in tune with the universe. We accomplish this by offering you an assortment of free resources, such as books, lessons, charts, artwork and thought provoking approaches to a variety of important subjects.

? Our target audience

While tbgcommission.org offers content suitable for any audience, this site nonetheless focuses significantly on deep research and extensive study material curated for the development and training of a new breed of leaders who will be able to work successfully with the new paradigms that are now emerging, both at the personal level and at the planetary scale.

? How this site is built

You won't find entertainment, dazzling animations and special effects on this site.

This site is a wiki because we  simplicity !

The technology behind this site is a free and open source software called BookStack. It uses the familiar and well structured book metaphor, that organizes content by Books, Chapters and Pages, and the books are stored and sorted on Shelves. These Shelves serve as the main access points.

Our instance of BookStack is hosted by PikaPods3.png

? Getting around the site

Bookstack offers many things that paper books can't, such as different kinds of navigation tools and a powerful Search tool. Here's a short tutorial on Getting Around and Finding Content, and a page explaining our Advanced Search capabilities. No matter where you are on this site, you can always return directly to this page by clicking on the  logo in the top left corner of the site.

? Where should I start?

tbgcommission.org is a large web site that covers many subjects, and offers several main starting points which are designated as Shelves. You can access these by clicking the  Shelves button in the top right side toolbar. These Shelves provide a top level overview of the site.

Today many people are confused by these strange and unsettled times which seem to make no sense. Yet, they do make sense once you become aware of a few fundamental factors about how our civilisation is set up and administered. To begin learning some of these fundamentals we recommend the section What on Earth is Going On?

If you are searching for self-help or personal growth content we recommend our Global Library of Wisdom which contains a broad range of uplifting articles about many personal topics and concerns.

If you desire something more structured, may we recommend our Kingdom of Heaven courses which offer a series of very enlightening and uplifting lessons about life on this turbulent planet.

If you are interested in the underlying mechanisms of the world stage then you will find an abundance of stimulating material in our Planetary Transformation section.

If you are a courageous soul, have an inquiring mind, and hunger for truth, then tbgcommission.org may be the buffet you've been looking for.
