

PART 3: Ultimate Processes

Eventuation - Graphical Examples

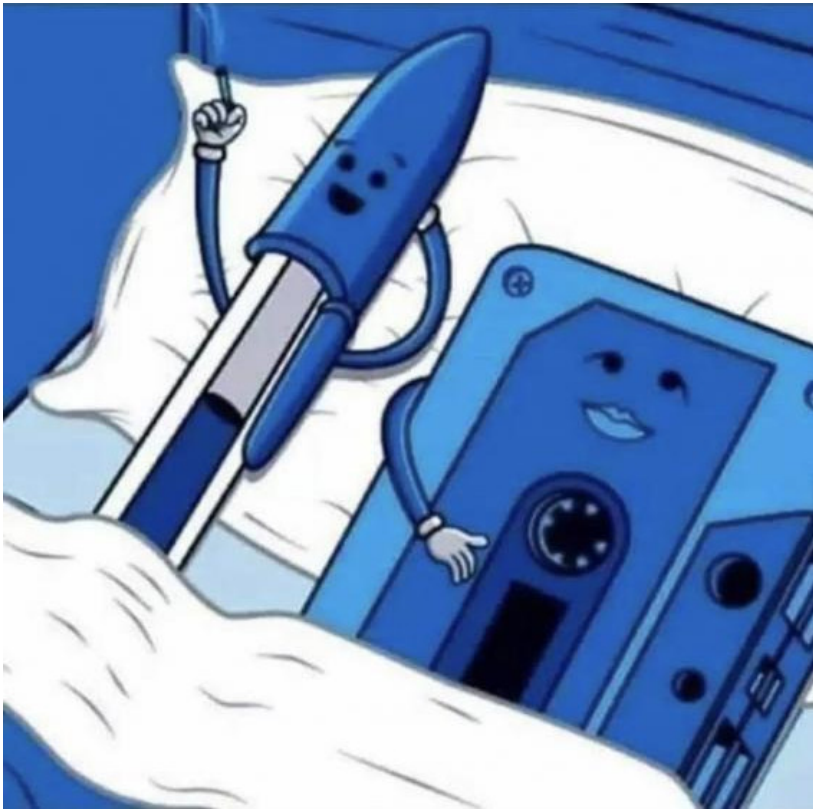

One of the most difficult concepts to comprehend in the Urantia Book is eventuation. Even our dictionaries have difficulty defining this word adequately. My dictionary simply says:

eventuate: come out in the end, consequence, outcome, result.

Years ago I had a Paradise Transcendentaler calling himself Alex come and give me some lessons on eventuation. Suffice it to say he had a difficult time trying to translate this Paradise transaction into mortal terms, and I came away with little I could use in real life.

In the past year, I have had three images brought to my attention as simple examples of eventuation. They are common things you should be familiar with.

First is the classic BIC pen and audio cassette of our more youthful days. These two everyday items are totally unrelated in design, concept, intent, and usage. Yet when the cassette ran into trouble and expelled some of its ribbon, the BIC pen proved to be the perfect tool to insert in one of the cassette's holes to easily rewind the unruly ribbon back into its case. This odd relationship eventuates into a totally unintended, and non-created tool.

Second is those cheap plastic kitchen water pitchers with the odd and uncomfortable handles that would bend under the weight of the contents and always feel like they were about to break. Here again we have an example of something totally unrelated in design, concept, intent, and usage, that just happens to make a useful funnel when the pitcher is nearly full and has a tendency to spill over the edge when pouring from the spout. Simply turn it around in your hand and pour backwards, out of the handle to prevent spillage. Again this oddity eventuates into a totally unintended, and non-created tool, a funnel.

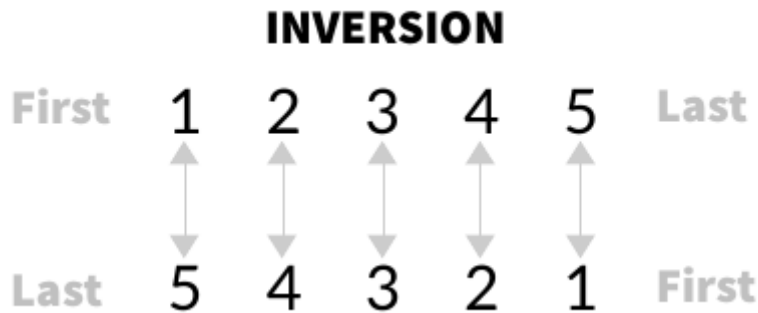

And once again we have two objects that have absolutely nothing in common in any way. Yet when you hold two nuts together as in the photo below, the angle they create is exactly the same angle as the tip of a drill bit, and so, a pair of nuts eventuate into an ideal angle gauge for checking to see if your drill bit has the correct angle when you sharpen it.

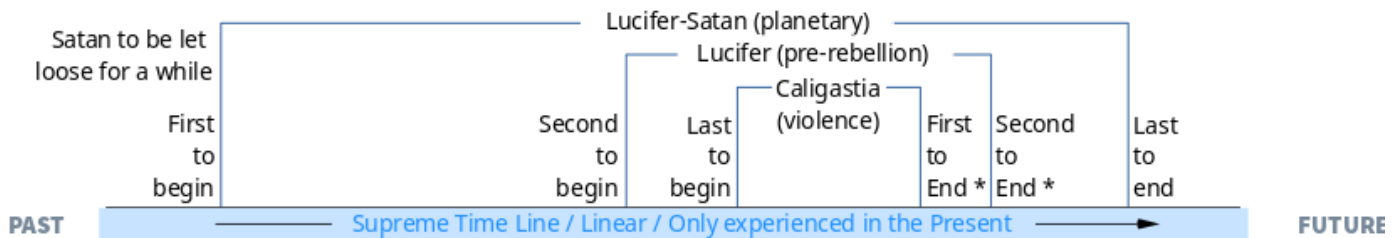

Remotion - Remotion Timeline

Remotion: the act of removing something. The term is used in these lessons to refer to the application of Ultimacy to remove rebellion artifacts which are beyond the Supreme's ability to remove, and to realign Urantia's evolution with Supreme rule.

The three primary remotion processes that occurred on Urantia to rectify the outstanding Lucifer rebellion issues are the: Caligastia, Lucifer (pre-rebellion), and Lucifer-Satan (planetary) remotion exercises. The Universe concept of Inversion is applicable.

On the Supreme linear timeline these three remotion exercises overlap while simultaneously displaying the inversion footprint. The first is last and the last is first. Planetary remotion was the first to start and the last to finish. The Caligastia remotion was the last to start but the first to finish.

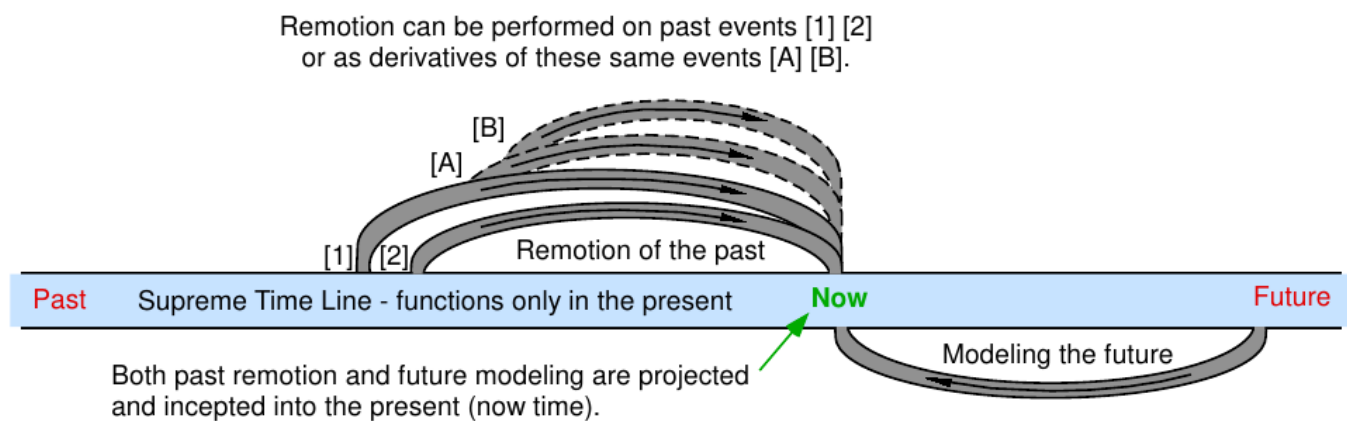

* The end of the Caligastia and Lucifer (pre-rebellion) remotion exercises are the only two points on this time line for which we currently have accurate dates.

Time Transcendence - Supreme - Ultimate timeline

The following does not account for every time transcendence process.

How Ultimate time transcendence works: The absonite nature of Ultimacy can transcend linear time in a variety of limited (sub-absolute) ways which can inject new potentials into the Supreme timeline. The concepts and values of the past can be revisited and remotioned into the present to correct past mistakes, and future possibilities (forecasts from simulation results) can be projected and incepted as new potentials in the present to stimulate the desired future realizations (actuals). Like planting seeds of potential for future growth.

The Urantia Papers speak of a relationship between time and transcended-time which may result in the blurring of finite time-sequence. They suggest that the Supreme may be able to project certain forecasts upon the levels of super-time and then reflect back to the finite time-level a projection of certain phases of his future estate. This is spoken of as "... the Immanence of the Projected Incomplete." UB 4:1.10, 117:7.6.

In essence this is an invasion of the finite past-present by the finite-future via the absonite level of super-time. Referred to as "Modeling the future" in the diagram above.

It is certainly true that both the Supreme and the Ultimate are able to foreshadow certain of their future universe activities by some such technique of anticipation of time-sequence. UB 117:7.3-5.

Additional notes about Time Transcendence

We often refer to the Supreme timeline as the linear passing of time, and while that is true, what constitutes the passing of time also includes the awareness of motion, as in the awareness of the execution of events and processes, which is essentially a form of motion.

For example, when Urantia's global financial system reached the end of its usefulness (which was by design), a new system had to be built to replace it. Had this new system been designed, constructed and made active within the collective consciousness of all Urantians (as public knowledge), then it would have been considered a Supreme process. This is how it is normally done on non rebellious evolutionary planets.

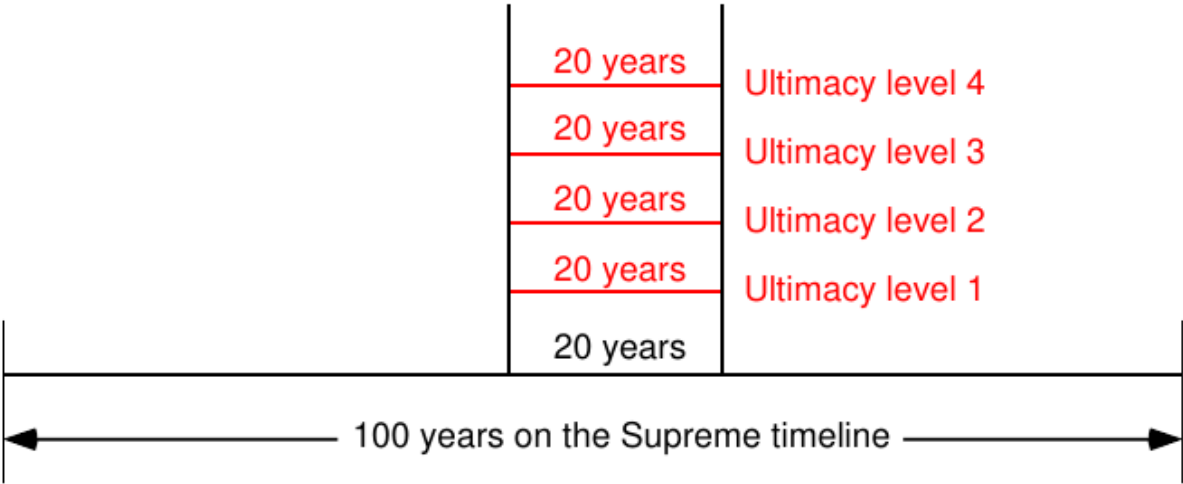

However, rebellious conditions on Urantia prevented it from being done this way. That created a situation where Urantia's collective human consciousness (which feeds into the Supreme Being) remained unaware of the construction and implementation of this new financial system until after it was completed and in full operation.

With the collective human awareness blocked from the timeline in regards to this new financial system, this amounts to time transcendence. Remember, time transcendence is not the elimination of time. The elimination of time is something called eternity. In time transcendence, time is still operational, but with unusual modifications being made to it, like the temporary blocking of collective consciousness from a particular process and implementation, such as the development of Urantia’s new financial system.

By blocking the collective human consciousness of this particular process, it does not register with the Supreme Being. In other words the Supreme Being is blind to it, as if the process never happened eventhough it did. But when the fully functional new financial system is finally made visible on the Supreme Timeline, and all Urantians become aware of it (becomes public knowledge), it then suddenly registers with the Supreme Being as if it appeared out of nowhere, or “eventuated”, since the Supreme Being was not aware of its creation and implementation process.

The Time Acceleration Effect

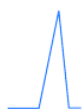

Under Supreme rule, time cannot accelerate or slow down. What can appear as time acceleration on Urantia is the effect caused by multiple Ultimate levels being injected into the supreme timeline concurrently as shown in red on the timeline below. Each red line represents the equivalent of 20 yrs. of activity, but since they all occur concurrently within the same 20 yr. span on the timeline (in black), there is the equivalent of 100 yrs. of activity occurring in those 20 yrs., thus giving the appearance of time acceleration. In reality this type of effect is due to a higher density of activity in a given amount of time, thus giving the illusion of time acceleration.

Space Transcendence - New Mind Circuits

The Havona Spirits of the Circuits have always served the needs of Havona, but now they are being extended into the Superuniverses and eventually into the first and second Outer Space

Zones. They are transcending their original purpose and expanding across space, thus space transcendence.

The Original 7 AMS Circuits
as they functioned on their own

The 49 Supreme AMS Circuits added to the 7 Nebadon circuits.

All non-adjusted mortals as well as those with adjusters who are in psychic circles 7 to 4 will remain on the 7 Nebadon Adjutant Mind Circuits. Those in psychic circles 3 and above will also connect to the Havona circuits, as well as 3 additional Supreme circuits (Father, Son, Spirit) for a total of 52 new circuits connecting to Urantia. The 3 additional Supreme circuits of the Universal Father, the Eternal Son, and the Infinite Spirit are referred to as the Supreme Spirit of Truth (SSoT) and will enhance Michael's own Spirit of Truth.

Coordination - 3 rebellions remotioned on Urantia simultaneously

My latest rebellion revelation tells me that outstanding rebellion issues from planets involved in the first two Nebadon rebellions are being channeled to Urantia for final resolution under Michael's new Sovereign authority as a Master Son and member of the Trinity Ultimate, and involves healing dynamics and processes of Ultimacy correction.

It is noteworthy that these two previous rebellions occurred before Michael became a Sovereign Master Michael, and He may have been under certain limitations in regards to dealing with these rebellions.

This might explain some of the seemingly "other worldly" occurrences happening on Urantia, such as but not limited to the recent phenomenon of the ever increasing number of genders (last count I heard in 2025 was at 158 genders).

The UB tells us that gender (male/female) is an extremely persistent thing lasting all the way to Paradise in Ascenders. Could it be possible that each time a past rebellion planet is remotioned on Urantia it manifests itself in the planetary mindset of those who still subscribe to the rebellion mindset as an additional gender pair? Keep in mind that such an addition to Urantia is a totally foreign "other worldly" thing.

Also keep in mind that issues such as pedophilia and homosexuality have always existed on Urantia and is even observable in the animal kingdom. However, those are not the same dynamic as non-existent genders.

Even the most insane people locked up in mental institutions can recognize that there are only two genders on this planet. Yet millions of intelligent and functional Urantians walking among us today (pastors, business leaders, teachers, parents, athletes, scholars etc) firmly believe in the beyond crazy idea that there are more than two genders. It really and truly is an "other wordly" phenomenon.

As a simple exercise in speculation, if we take 158 genders and divide it by 2, it leaves 79 gender pairs, and if we remove Urantia's own gender pair it leaves 78. It's well within reason that 78 former rebellion planets may now be undergoing remotion right here on Urantia.

In addition, when we factor in the announcement that Urantia will some day be host to the primary School of Rebellion for the Grand Universe, as part of its future as the gateway to the Outer Space Zones, it would seem sensible to aggregate as much rebellion experience/knowledge/wisdom on Urantia as possible.
